Four Doors from Front, Portland, Ogn.

HAVING secured the services of Dr. C. H. MACK, formerly of New York city, and late of St. Louis, who is an experienced and skillful Dentist, I am now prepared to manufacture and insert Artificial Teeth by the following methods, namely: GOLD, SILVER, RUBBER, AMBER, PORCELAIN BASE, GUM ENAMEL, RUBBER ATTACHMENT, CHEOPLASTIC, CONTINUOUS GUM, MICA and ENAMELED PLATE WORK. Some kinds of this work is recommended above all others, and needs but an inspection to prove its superiority for cleanliness, durability and life-like appearance to any artificial teeth in use.

Filling and cleaning teeth and all operations in Dental Surgery, either mechanical, operative or surgical, performed in the most thorough and highly finished manner. None but the most permanent and finished operations performed, and no inducements to patients by low priced or roughly finished operations. I use no cement in filling teeth, and seek in price to make no competition with cheap Dentists, and desire the patronage of such persons only as wish their operations performed in the most perfect and skillful manner.

Operations that fail to give satisfaction need not be taken or paid for. Office hours from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M. Indigent persons who are unable to pay full professional charges will call before and after office hours. nov4tf

A SITUATION WANTED by a young man of good business qualifications, one who has had long experience as Book keeper and Salesman in large Wholesale and Retail houses. Wages not so much [illegible]. Address [illegible]
Portland, Dec 6th 1861. tf

UNDIMINISHED FAITH IN THE UNION.—The subjoined extract from the Albany Evening Journal contains so much of truth that it deserves to be universally read. The editor of the Journal is Thurlow Weed, a name known to all of our readers, and wherever known it is honored. There is a depth and breadth, a patriotic inspiration in all that Mr. Weed writes, that recommend his views to universal favor.

It is a remarkable fact that after eighteen months of weary struggle, with varying fortunes and with doubtful success, the popular faith in the Union is unimpaired and the popular determination to save it, no matter what the cost, is unshaken. Our Foreign censors will do well to make note of the fact that no one—with any hope of a political future—however fanatical or however lukewarm in his loyalty, has dared even suggest the idea of suffering it to perish. All parties, cliques and political persuasions—the extreme Abolitionists on the one hand, the extreme Pro Slaverists on the other—agree in this: That there must be but one Power—but one centre of dominion—on this Continent, and that centre the Union. The means by which it is proposed to secure this end may be widely different; but the end is the same. One proposes to reestablish the Federal Power by the virtual destruction of Southern society, another proposes to make new concessions to Slavery, assume the expenses of the war, invite the Rebels to come back, and hand over to them the old sceptre. A more conservative class content themselves with the single purpose to crush out the Rebellion as a physical fact, and compel the Insurgents to return to their old allegiance and live with us in the future, as they lived in the earlier and better days of the Republic—not as masters, not as conquered subjects, but as equals.

But the popular instinct that upon the salvation of the Union hang all our hopes of future peace and greatness, was never so strong as it is to day. The conviction that there can be no calamity so great as that of permanent disruption—that indeed there can be no national life worthy the name for us except as we remain united, that we are impelled, by a very law of our existence, to reunite somehow the now severed members of our Confederacy—that rather than suffer disintegration, we must sacrifice, if need be, millions of lives and billions of treasure,—has entered into the very marrow of our bones.

We see—the most dull visioned of us cannot help seeing—that in abandoning the Union we abandon all. We see that its cohesive power once destroyed the vast bulk of our nationality crumbles into atoms. We realize the words of Mr. Russell, of the London Times, that the "Union is Power"—power for conquest—power for internal aggrandizement—"power to affront the world."

GIRLS.—There are two kinds of girls. One is the kind that appears the best abroad—the girls that are good for parties, rides, visits, balls, etc., and whose chief delight is in such things. The other is the kind that appears best at home—the girls that are useful and cheerful in the dining room, the sick room and all the precincts of their home. They differ widely in character. One is often a torment at home, the other a blessing. One is a moth, consuming everything about her; the other is a sunbeam, inspiring life and gladness all along her pathway. Now it does not necessarily follow that there should be two classes of girls. A slight education of the right sort will modify both a little, and thus unite their good qualities in one.

THE MEASLES.—A correspondent of the Detroit Advertiser says that a decoction of oats is infallible for the cure of measles.—Take a pint of oats, and put them in a tight vessel, pour on boiling water, and let it stand a short time, then give it to the sick person to drink. It must be pretty warm. In fifteen minutes you will see a change for the better.

An Irishman was fishing, and among other things he hauled in was a large turtle. To enjoy the surprise of the servant girl, he placed it in her bed-room. The next morning the first thing that bounded into the breakfast room was Biddy, exclaiming: "Be jabers I've got the divil!" "What devil?" inquired the head of the house, feigning surprise. "The bully bed-bug that's been atein' the childer the last month—I've got him, sure."

FRIDAY MORNING, JAN [illegible] 18[illegible]

The Narrowness of the Newspaper Field in Oregon

From the prejudices existing [illegible] men mostly having their rise in the bigotry of [illegible] ities, it has been found difficult [illegible] to [illegible] center in any one journal a representation of the interests of the different communities of the State. Even in the matter of local news, some private citizens will trouble them [illegible] to see that one newspaper establishment receives information on [illegible] subject and count it a victory if they can keep a journal opposed to their politics from getting the same. There were some things of this kind practiced by public officers, under the [illegible] Lane domination which approached criminality. For the most part however those who have heretofore corresponded with Oregon newspapers, from the smaller settlements, have had some private spite to [illegible] or an ambition to shine as political writers. It is altogether wrong to tolerate the [illegible] which characterizes many of these personal communications, and as for political articles, we can "clip" better ones than the very best which are sent to us, except so far as they apply to local affairs.

We believe that the true use of a newspaper is to publish the news. In order to recommend it to popular favor, it should publish all the news within a certain scope and make a practice of doing so continuously. In connection with the news, the public have always demanded a certain amount of miscellany either solid or fictitious, and this ought to be given also. But those things which effect us immediately, are those which should receive particular attention from a public journal. In order to give sufficient prominence to such matters, they must be placed in a proper light by communicativeness on the part of private individuals. From these, all matters of public import, designed to benefit town, county, State or nation, should receive respectful treatment, and in order to secure it, private persons should be sure that what they communicate contains nothing which is intended to injure or affect other private individuals. Communications on local matters should be confined to the limits of an actual intent to benefit the community to which they refer.

If we can secure the co-operation of persons throughout this State and Washington Territory, we intend to report everything affecting the interest of these two communities, and to that end offer the use of the columns of the OREGONIAN for the publication of communications within the scope mentioned. It is true that many communications would be rejected for lack of interest, but in the aggregate great good would doubtless result to localities from the practice of what we have recommended.

In addition to these voluntary contributions we are gradually securing a valuable and extensive mining correspondence, which we intend still further to enlarge, as new discoveries widen the field of mining enterprise.

For this mining correspondence we pay liberally, to those regularly engaged, and find that it is by far the best way to insure regularity, ability and responsibility. Upon this last point, we desire it understood that correspondents are responsible for their statements, and all who do not choose to give their proper names, with satisfactory references, where we do not know them, should never write for publication.

A TEMPEST IN A TEA POT.—The Secesh sympathizers in this State affect to discover that American Liberty is in danger, because some infamous little treason peddling cabbage leaf of a newspaper is denied transmission through the mails of a country which they are trying to destroy. When the New York Tribune was for years, denied distribution at the post offices at the South, these little fellows thought that "incendiary sheet" was treated just right. Now we hold that these secesh papers are as much "incendiary" in their sphere as the Tribune ever was accused of being. They certainly are endeavoring to create sedition amongst white people which we take it, is as bad as to stir up niggers to revolt, even if Greeley could be justly accused of doing any such thing. If it was right to suppress the Tribune's circulation, it is also right to stop the wind of the Corvallis Union, and several others of the same stripe. The only difference in this matter of the mails between Greeley and [illegible] Malone & Co., is that Horace knows rather more than any of them. We know full well that the Union will acknowledge this, but doubt whether Col. [illegible] will, particularly if he happens to be rather high on the eminence of a Summer's evening.

Men always laugh at humor but seldom at wit, the first is a happy extravagance exciting risibility and the second is the sublimation of truth, exposing humbug in every form.

Madness, [illegible] and frankness are stand[illegible] [illegible] insults to sneaks.

LATER FROM THE EAST.

News of January 17th.

[illegible] Washington [illegible] The [illegible] Richmond [illegible] list is a letter [illegible] Secretary Benjamin to Slidell exaggerating all the rebel victories [illegible] up to [illegible] losses to that time to [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] the Confederate [illegible] Mason [illegible] possible [illegible] ever was [illegible]

It [illegible] that Earl Russell [illegible] Commissioner Slidell was not sent [illegible] reports with the letters [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] Richmond [illegible] which [illegible] British Secretary.

An [illegible] late [illegible] the European [illegible] Department [illegible] explains his scheme for raising money in England by hypothecating the [illegible] Confederate States [illegible] by which this cotton is to be transmitted in British vessels [illegible] utility of iron clad vessels and the means by which they are to [illegible] the Lord [illegible] correspondence.

NEW YORK, Jan 17.—A special Nashville dispatch says [illegible] the burning of the steamer by Forrest [illegible] wounded soldiers [illegible] the burning boats were [illegible] in the water. The [illegible] crews were stripped [illegible] Officers and soldiers were stripped [illegible] clothing [illegible] ashore [illegible]

Reliable information has been received from scouts that efforts are making by the rebels to cut off Rosecrans' supplies [illegible] and then to crush him. It is said that Longstreet will attack him next week with his entire force, which it is thought will number 75,000. Rosecrans is fully prepared [illegible] will not move until [illegible] to capture the rebels or interfering with his transports or drive them off.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan 17.—The [illegible] Nashville dispatch says [illegible] Longstreet with [illegible] brigades, has arrived at Chattanooga and is preparing to attack Rosecrans next week.

The Chattanooga Rebel of Thursday, Jan 15th, has a dispatch announcing that a large fleet of Federal transports and gunboats are coming up the river.

An entire rebel regiment deserted recently and came into our lines near Murfreesboro.

CAIRO, Jan 17.—The steamer Ram Storm arrived to day direct from Arkansas Post, which point she left on Monday, Jan 12th. By her we have the following additional news. The attack was made on Friday evening, Jan 9th, by the gunboats, the land forces debarking below and marching to the rear of the fortifications. The rebels had earthworks two miles below the main fort, from which they were shelled on Sunday. [illegible] ing, however, they did considerable execution on the gunboats with the heavy guns planted at that point. Three balls entered the port holes of the gunboat Somerville, killing four men. The fort, mainly built of square timber, covered with railroad iron, and pronounced very strong, surrendered on Sunday, balls from our guns having knocked the sheathing off, dismounted the guns and demolished the gun carriages. The officers of the Ram Storm say we captured six regiments, and that at daylight on Monday, two regiments of Texan Rangers, not knowing the place had surrendered, came to reinforce it, and did not discover their position until too late. Nearly all the ammunition taken by the rebels from the steamer Blue Wing some days since was recaptured. Our ram and two gunboats had gone up the river to reconnoiter, and had not returned at the time the Ram Storm left. It is said that large gunboats and transports cannot ascend the river as far as Little Rock, in consequence of low water. This may delay operations in that direction. Our loss was not so great as was at first reported.

The attack by gunboats on Arkansas Post continued from Friday evening until Sunday afternoon, at which time the land forces stormed the works.

News of January 18th.

NEW YORK, Jan 18.—The British schooner Carrie A Putnam, and brig Huefool from St Thomas, Jan 6th, report the brig Gilmore Meredith, of Bath, and schooner West Wind sailed Jan 6th for Cuba and the same day were chased back by the rebel privateer Retribution. She lay outside the harbor and during the night sent boats along the Gilmore Meredith, at anchor in the harbor and took off five of her crew, who willingly deserted. The Retribution mounts five guns.

A special dispatch to the Sunday Mercury says: "The Army of the Potomac is in motion and a battle is probably raging. The crossing of the Rappahannock was probably effected at Richard's Ford, ten miles above Fredericksburg." The special adds: "From news received at the Department it is now deemed certain that Gen. Burnside is, by this time across the river, and rebels skedaddling inland. All army officers in Washington have left for the battle field."

The same correspondence says: "The Vicksburg expedition is being rapidly reorganized. McClernand will be second in command. The force will reach one hundred thousand."

Richmond papers of Jan 16th contain telegrams to the effect that all is quiet at Wilmington, N C. On the 15th all believed the Federals fleet [illegible] for that place. All non-combatants are requested to leave the town. Another force of from five to six thousand [illegible] ing towards Kingston.

The steamer Columbia had run the blockade out of a Confederate port. Another steamer had run in from Nassau with a heavy mail and a valuable assorted cargo.

CAIRO, Jan 18th.—[illegible] Asboth has assumed command at Columbus, Kentucky. He reports that Gen. [illegible] placed under arrest and that [illegible] with Forrest at Island No. 10 and New Madrid [illegible]

Matters at Memphis are reported [illegible] rather [illegible] weeks will be required to get them straight. The [illegible] ing of the Mississippi must not [illegible] inside of a month.

CINCINNATI, Jan 18.—It is known to Gen. Rosecrans that [illegible] has been largely reinforced and has an effective force of 60,000 men. [illegible] and Rosecrans [illegible] attack on his left flank. The rebels will make an attack immediately [illegible] Rosecrans [illegible] Tullahoma and Murfreesboro [illegible] of this week.

FALMOUTH, Va, Jan 1[illegible].—Yesterday evening the rebels [illegible] 1,000 infantry and [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] the [illegible] Tennessee [illegible]

[illegible] Bragg [illegible]

[illegible] rebels [illegible] missing [illegible] were reported [illegible] killed.

News of January 19th.

NEW YORK, Jan 19th.—The Tribune's [illegible] letter from [illegible] with the Army of the Potomac [illegible] that onward movement was about to [illegible] [illegible] Gen. Burnside [illegible] that the army is [illegible]

[illegible] from Key West [illegible] the U. S. gunboat at [illegible] 10th having [illegible] from Nassau with valuable cargoes.

[illegible] Bank [illegible] the Hatteras [illegible] the ship [illegible] New York [illegible]

WASHINGTON, Jan 19th.—The General in Chief [illegible] orders to several [illegible] in the field [illegible] rebel [illegible] The cause of this order is that a number of Union officers now prisoners at Richmond are kept in close confinement and are to be [illegible] Our Government has failed [illegible] an arrangement for the release of [illegible] Southern jails, the rebel authorities [illegible] to recognize them in any system of exchange that has been proposed. It is understood that enough is known [illegible] that [illegible] States [illegible] arrest [illegible] exchanges [illegible] South.

From paroled prisoners believed to be perfectly reliable we learn that on the 4th inst at daybreak the rebel troops commenced leaving Fredericksburg to reinforce Bragg. By the morning of the 6th eleven brigades, amounting to about 40,000 men had left.—They were composed of troops from Tennessee, North Carolina and Georgia.

A MISAPPREHENSION.—Mr Arthur F Chapman, of Champoeg informs us that his name has been frequently connected with the killing of Wm. Winters, otherwise "Brocky," at the mouth of [illegible] on Salmon river. It was Arthur F Chapman, the son of [illegible] spected fellow townsman C. W. Chapman who [illegible] justly killed Winters in self defence. We desire it to be distinctly understood that no blame attaches to Mr Chapman for killing this man, but it is inconvenient for a namesake to have to explain to so many that he did not do the deed.

LOWDER.—"What's powder bringing?" asked a dealer of Squigsby, who was looking over the market report. "Powder," replied the funny man, "is bringing the rebels to their senses."

Death is the condition of our creation. It is a part of us and, while we endeavor to evade it, we avoid ourselves.

NEW TO-DAY.

THE CHEAP JOHN NUISANCE.—The noise made at the two Cheap John establishments in this city is, almost intolerable. We are of those who believe that one man has just as good a right to yell at the top of his voice on the street as another, and not a bit better. We also believe that no Cheap John should be licensed to do what would not be tolerated in a private citizen. We further know that any given number of Cheap Johns cannot pay licenses enough to pay for the nuisance which they create. We, in addition, charge the Cheap John who holds forth opposite to the OREGONIAN office with the use of obscene language, which we learn is habitual. Those who are interested should have this matter examined into. The Council should be petitioned to pass an ordinance forbidding night auctions of any kind. By this means this nuisance can be removed, and by no other.

REMOVAL OF INDIANS.—The City Marshal and his subordinates propose at once to break up the nest of savages living on the north side of the city, whose infernal orgies, varied by free fights, interfere seriously with the peace and dignity of the city, to say nothing of the comfort of private individuals. In this connection, we should be pleased to learn that some steps were taken to detect the lurking scoundrels who supply these untutored wards of a neglectful Indian Department with the "fire-water" which transforms them into demons.

NOTICE.—We call attention to the advertisement of A. J. Chapman, of the Champoeg Mills, which will be found among our new advertisements. Mr. Chapman's brand of flour is made exclusively from old wheat; thus producing an article of flour capable of taking up more water, and containing more value to the pound, to say nothing of the greater healthfulness of the article. A considerable shipment of this brand of flour has been thrown on the market and has been readily taken up for baker's and family use.

THE FIRE AT FORT HOSKINS.—Mr. Charles Schuck, of Fort Hoskins, writes the following account of the attack on the store of Messrs. Hodges & Schuck to the Corvallis Union:

On Monday evening, January 12th, eight soldiers belonging to Fort Hoskins, entered the store house of Messrs. Hudges & Schuck, demanding some beer. But as the same men had been there on the day before, (Sunday,) in the store, helping themselves, and as the same seemed to be under the influence of liquor, they were refused by me. Immediately after I refused them, two of the men attacked me and succeeded in putting me in the cellar. Then to crown the whole proceeding one of them set the house on fire, and left only after there was no possibility of saving the house and its contents. Mr. Myers, a gentleman, acting as a substitute for Mr. Hodges, who was held in awe by the miscreants, having a loaded pistol held at his head, let me out of the cellar, and so saved my life.

PRENTICE'S LAST.—We have received a letter from Springfield in this State, signed "Three She Rebels." They very broadly intimate or rather say that we lie. Indeed we don't lie and we won't. They must excuse our want of gallantry in saying that they lie, and, that we will sooner be hanged than lie with them.

We should like information as to the pedigree of this triple rebel concern. We can readily understand that Cerberus, the triple-headed dog at Hell's gate, was the sire, but who in the name of Sycorax and the three Furies can have been the dam? We suppose they claim to have a dam, though we guess they are not worth one.—Lou. Journal.

Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement. dec10daw3m

Storage.—THE FIRE-PROOF STONE WAREHOUSE, opposite Ullo House, is the only building, "not made of wood," at the Dalles, where goods are taken on STORAGE. All other houses that take goods on storage are wooden buildings and in exposed parts of the town, liable to the risk of fire. The subscriber assures his patrons that his charges are but $1 50 per ton per month storage and although storage in wooden buildings is $1 00 per ton, yet the public cannot fail to perceive the advantages the subscriber possesses over other warehouses of this place.

White's Fever and Ague Drops.—For the cure of AGUE, PANAMA FEVER, NEURALGIA and GENERAL DEBILITY.

This medicine has been used in private practice for many years with great success. Indeed, in no instance has it failed to effect a speedy cure, in Ague especially, one bottle having been found sufficient in most cases and in none are more than two bottles required.

A great number of testimonials could be given to verify these statements, but the proprietor prefers relying upon the merits of the medicine alone. A cure is guaranteed in this cases out of ten.

[illegible] ELECTRICAL [illegible]

No Compromise with Disease.

[illegible] by ELECTRICAL [illegible]

To the Ladies of California.

Dr. Van Zandt's success with complaints of women, both in family and [illegible] the organs of all those [illegible] can consult him with entire confidence [illegible] the only master of the legitimate profession [illegible] really successful in removing [illegible] peculiar province of the sex. [illegible] together with their great sympathetic [illegible] assuage those silent complaints which [illegible] No secret despondency [illegible] awaken the stricken [illegible] restore the wonted [illegible] of the body, awaken the [illegible] and despondency, [illegible] rest those [illegible] which [illegible] so much anxiety, [illegible] protean maladies which [illegible] so long.

Baffled the Skill of Physicians.

Loss of appetite, life and animation, dispel nervous headache, sinking at the stomach, wandering pains, wasting away of strength, extreme debility and lifelessness, [illegible] cough, sleeplessness, unpleasant dreams and that general depression of life's powers, which go to render her life a misery and death a boon. Dr. Van Zandt, with his new method of using the Electro-Galvanic current, together with his auxiliary measures which are adapted to the necessities of all [illegible], will assure you of a complete and radical recovery of all bodily and mental infirmities, and will restore [illegible] usefulness, and spare you a blessing to your family [illegible].

All the world over who ever [illegible] whether special to the soil and climate [illegible] epidemic or casual, acute or chronic [illegible] a treatment is necessary to restore the ELECTRO-GALVANIC equilibrium, especially in California, as it is to give food to the starving. This statement is based upon a series of facts extending through many years, and verified by hundreds of patients; no [illegible] principle of science, no rule of experience, no result of any well known cause, rests upon a more sure and unassailable foundation than those which underlie the world wide reputation of Electricity in the cure of all nervous states of the body, faulty digestion, mental and physical debility or prostration, coughs, asthma, wandering pains of a rheumatic, gouty or neuralgic character, and all forms of disease, the result of scrofulous or sedentary habit of body.

None Need Despair of Relief.

If you have ulcers which will not heal—pains that cannot be removed—melancholy which you cannot shake off—loss of power which you cannot regain—depression of spirits which weighs you down—wakefulness that knows no sleeping—languor that languishes for want of energy—a void which no society can fill—suspicion which no assurance can allay—go to Dr. Van Zandt, for his great success and the safety with which he administers his new method of electrical application together with his remedies, which are adapted to the requirements of climate and constitution, will assure you of a complete and radical removal of all bodily and mental infirmities, within the scope of science and man to remove.

The Eye and Ear Diseases.

It must not be forgotten by the eye and ear sufferers that Dr Van Zandt has made these afflictions an especial study, and that he is the only Surgeon in our State who has a diploma for that branch of practice. Very many of the eye and ear troubles are purely deranged nervous action, and are cured by his electro-galvanic battery—as amaurosis, squinting, cataract, floating specks before the vision, twitching of the eyelids, nervous deafness, roaring and buzzing noises in the ears, giddiness, etc. All operations successfully done on those delicate organs of sense.

DR. BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA.

Is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oils and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known any, however delicate, to be injured by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted, who have not used it, to try it for the following diseases: If they are not satisfied with its healing properties, the money will be cheerfully returned by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea internally, bathe externally over the parts affected, and you will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Bruise or Wound, bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely, and take a dose of it internally, morning, noon and night; it will not only cure the pain, but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea to the affected parts, and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.

If you have the Diarrhea, or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a dose of Pain Panacea, and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling, bathe the parts freely, and you will soon relieve pain, and the swelling will be reduced.

If you have a severe tooth-ache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton and bathe gum at the same time; it will stop the pain instantly.

If you have a pain in the Breast, Side, Back or Kidneys, bathe parts affected morning and night; at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has a caked breast, apply the Panacea as hot as it can be borne.

If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

If you have a wound, cut, or galls upon your horse, apply the Pain Panacea; it will take out all the inflammation and heal the sore in a short time.

Origin of the Marsellaise

The annexed account of the origin of the Marsellaise Hymn is from Alexander Dumas' novel of "Andree d' Taverney." This story is likely to be correct, the more particularly as Dumas claims to have had it from the lips of De l'Isle himself, who may be now living. He was still alive in the fall of 1859, and was at that time [illegible] in Paris for interfering with his patent method of putting up Seltzer water. The translation of the Marsellaise in the story is very [illegible] but far superior in spirit to that which is ordinarily sung, and the story of the story deserves republishing.

Strasburg, with its peerless spire [illegible] on the Rhine, which alone divided us from the enemy, was a boiling cauldron of war, youth, joy, pleasure, balls, reviews, where the clash of instruments of combat incessantly mingles with the music of revelry.

From Strasburg, through one gate of which the volunteers entered, there went out by another gate, the soldiers who were deemed in fighting condition; there friends met, shook hands, bid farewell; there sisters wept, mothers prayed, fathers said:

"Go, and die for France!"

All this, to the ringing of bells and the reverberations of cannon, those two bronze voices speaking to heaven—one to invoke its mercifulness, the other its justice.

On one of these departures, a more solemn than the others, because the most considerable, the mayor of Strasburg, Dietrich, a worthy and excellent patriot, invited the brave young men to come to his house to fraternize in a banquet with the officers of the garrison.

The mayor's two daughters, with twelve or fifteen of their companions—fair, noble daughters of Alsace, who might have been taken, by their golden tresses, for nymphs of Ceres—were, if not to preside, at least like so many bouquets of flowers to embellish the feast.

Among the number of the guests, an habitual visitor to Dietrich's house, a friend of the family, was a young, high spirited native of Franc Comtois, named Rouget de l'Isle.

Rouget de l'Isle was then at the age of twenty, and, as an engineer officer, was in the garrison at Strasburg.

A poet and a musician, his piano was one of the instruments to be heard in immense concerts, his voice one of those which resound above the strongest and most patriotic.

Never was banquet more French, more national, illumed by a more ardent June sun.

No one spoke of himself—all spoke of France.

Death was there, it is true, as in antique festivals; but smiling death, not grasping in his hand the hideous scythe and mournful hour-glass, but a sword in one hand, in the other a palm branch!

They were puzzled what they should sing; the old "Ça ira," was a song of wrath and civil war; they wanted a patriotic, brotherly outburst, and yet menacing to the foreigners.

Who was to be the modern Tyrteus who would hurl, amid cannon smoke, the whistling of bullets and balls, the hymn of France to the enemy?

To this demand Rouget de l'Isle, enthusiastic, amorous, patriotic, answered:

"It is I!"

He left the saloon.

In half an hour, while his absence was hardly causing any uneasiness, all was formed, words and music; all was cast at the one gush of metal, fashioned in the mould like a god's statue.

Rouget de l'Isle entered, his hair tossed back, his forehead beaded with sweat, breathless with the contest he had wrestled with the two sisters, Music and Poetry.

"Listen—hearken to me, all of you!"

He was sure of his muse, the noble young man.

At his voice everybody turned, some holding their glasses in their hand, others holding a hand in theirs.

Rouget de l'Isle commenced:

> Awake, sons of dear France, awake!
> The day of glory dawns full fair
> Against you now doth tyranny
> Its bloody standard high uprear,
> Do you not hear how, in our fields
> Its ruthless soldiers fiercely cheer?
> They're come to slay, e'en in our arms,
> Our children, all we love so dear.
> To arms, citizens! your battalions form!
> March on, March on!
> Until the beams of peace succeed the storm!

On this opening verse an electrical shudder overran the audience.

Two or three shouts of enthusiasm burst forth, but the greedy voices of the rest cried instantly:

"Hush, hush! let us hear!"

Rouget continued, with a gesture of deep indignation:

> What do they want, this horde of slaves
> Of trait'rous monarchs, plotting kings?
> For whom have they had their fetters wrought—
> For whom are meant those iron rings?
> For Frenchmen—us! oh, such outrage
> All sons of France this must uprouse
> Do they dare dream of binding us
> In slavery of other days!
> To arms, citizens

This time, Rouget de l'Isle did not have to sing the chorus himself; a single cry came from every bossom:

> your battalions form
> March on, march on!
> Until the beams of peace succeed the storm

Then he proceeded amid growing enthusiasm:

> What, shall we to foreign cohorts
> Without a blow struck, trembling bow—
> Shall we confess that our soldiers
> Cannot base hirelings overthrow?
> Great God! but on hands enchained
> We are, yoke-weighted, to rest our brow?
> Shall we be serfs of despots ever
> To tug, like cattle, at the plough?

A hundred heaving breasts were waiting, and when the last line was uttered, the final question put, they cried:

"No, no, no!"

Then, with the peal of a trumpet, the mighty chorus resounded:

> To arms, citizens, your battalions form
> March on, march on
> Until the beams of peace succeed the storm

This time, there was such a commotion among all the auditors that Rouget de l'Isle, before singing a fourth verse, was obliged to beg silence.

He was listened to feverishly.

The indignant voice became menacing:

> Trembling, tyrants, with your allies
> Whom all hate with one accord
> Tremble! for your murd'rous projects
> Are fated soon to gain reward
> If our heroes should fall battling—
> Fate has many and things in stor
> All our soldiers to fight 'gainst ye
> Our country shall have more and more

"Ay, ay!" cried all the voices.

And fathers pushed forward their sons who could walk, while mothers held up in their arms those who still had to be carried.

This made the bard perceive that there was one verse missing, the song of the children, the hymn of the forthcoming harvest, the germinating grain, and while the guests frenziedly repeated the chorus, he let his head sink on his hand, amid the confusion, excitement, bravos, he improvised the subjoining:

> To march forward we are ready
> When our elders shall be no more
> We will follow in their footsteps
> Glorious paths they trod before
> Should we fall while them avenging
> Should like water our blood outpore
> Pierced by the ball or blade, our hearts
> Have the same feeling our fathers bore

Through the stifled sobs of mothers the enthusiastic tones of sisters was to be heard the pure voices of children singing:

> [illegible]
> March on, march on
> [illegible]

"Ah! but," muttered one of the guests, "Is there to be no pardon for those who are misled?"

"Stay, stay!" said Rouget de l'Isle, "you will see that my heart has not deserve such a reproach."

In a voice fraught with emotion he sang this lofty strophe, in which is the entire soul of [illegible] grand genius and in her wrath soaring on the pinions of mercy above anger itself:

> [illegible]
> [illegible]
> [illegible]
> [illegible]

Applause interrupted the poet.

"Yes! yes!" came from every side, "mercy, forgiveness for our misguided brothers, our enslaved brothers, who are pushed against us with whip and bayonet."

"Yes," resumed Rouget de l'Isle, "mercy and forgiveness for them.

> [illegible]
> [illegible]
> [illegible]
> [illegible]
> [illegible]

Awe and every voice against such [illegible] us—

> March on, march on
> Until the beams of peace succeed the storm

"Now," cried Rouget de l'Isle, "down on your knees, whoever you be."

All obeyed.

Rouget de l'Isle alone remained standing; he set one foot on the chair of one of the guests, as if on the first step to the temple of Liberty, and uplifting both arms to the heavens, he sung the last verse, the invocation to the spirit of France:

> O sacred love of native land
> [illegible]
> O Liberty! dear Liberty
> [illegible]
> [illegible]
> [illegible]
> [illegible]
> Thy triumphant and thy glory

"France is saved!" said a voice.

And from every mouth, in an universal outburst, pealed the De profundis of despotism, the Magnificat of Liberty:

> To arms, citizens! your battalions form
> March on, march on
> Until the beams of peace succeed the storm

It was now a wild, intoxicated, unrestrained joy; every one threw himself into his neighbor's arms, the girls collected flowers in nosegays and chaplets which they strewed at the poet's feet.

Thirty eight years after this, while of this great day telling me, a young man who had just for the first time heard, in 1830, this holy hymn sung by the people's mighty voice—the poet's brow still shown with the halo of 1792.

And this was justice!

Else how comes it that I myself, while penning these last lines, am thus affected?

From whence comes it that while my trembling right hand traces the chorus of the children, the invocation to the spirit of France, my left hand dashes away a tear ready to drop on the paper?

It is because the holy Marseillaise is not only a battle cry but an outburst of fraternity, because the powerful hand of France is outstretched over all her people, because it will ever be the last sigh of dying freedom, the first cry of liberty born again.

Proclamation by the Governor

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, PORTLAND, OREGON,
January 6 1863.

By the President of the United States through Brigadier General George Wright commanding the Department of the Pacific and Brigadier General Benjamin Alvord, commanding the District of Oregon, I have been requested to raise six additional companies required to complete the 1st Regiment of Cavalry Oregon Volunteers. They will be needed the coming Spring on the frontiers of this State and Washington Territory and for an expedition against the Snake Indians, who have [illegible] long been in [illegible] engaged in robbing emigrants and murdering our fellow citizens. I cannot doubt that the citizens of Oregon who have always promptly responded to any demand for their military services, will in like manner respond to this call, thereby showing their loyalty to the Government and a [illegible] in chastising marauding bands of Indians which infest our frontiers.

The enlisted men when mounted will be supplied with horses by the United States, it being understood that they will be mounted or not as shall be deemed advisable by the Government.

Propositions to raise a whole company which will furnish their own horses and horse equipments, may be entertained. The men are in such cases entitled to forty cents per day for the use and risk of their horses and horse equipments.

Each company will consist of one hundred enlisted men and when mustered into the service of the United States to serve for three years, unless sooner discharged.

Recruiting offices will be immediately opened at Portland, Dalles City and perhaps at other places. By the Governor,

ADDISON C GIBBS

CYRUS A REED, Adjutant General

U. S. ASSESSOR'S NOTICE.

PERSONS SUBJECT TO EXCISE DUTIES under the Revenue Law of the United States, approved July 1st, 1862, entitled "An Act to provide Internal Revenue for the support of the Government, and to pay Interest on the Public Debt," are hereby notified that the law went into operation on the 1st of September.

All persons engaged in occupations requiring daily, tri-monthly, monthly or quarterly records or returns, are informed that the Assessor's Department will be organized as speedily as possible. Meantime THEIR RECORDS should commence September 1st, in order to insure uniform justice to themselves and the Government, as the Law will be retrospective in its application to all classes subject to excise, whatever necessary delay may occur in organizing the Department. The Section relating to Stamps will take effect from and after October 1st.

THOMAS FRAZAR,
Assessor for Oregon.
